Subject: Pavillion

Hey guys - Encana just released a letter it sent to EPA earlier this month. The company says EPA has not released data related to its retesting of the monitoring / domestic wells at Pavillion, nor documents and communications Encana sought via a FOIA request.

The company is saying it is not able to comment on the draft report by the October 17 deadline without this information and that it's being prevented from weighing in. Encana also says it believes the whole process is being politically driven. ... Can you guys comment on why EPA hasn't released the data the company is seeking? Can you also comment on whether EPA would be willing to extend the comment deadline to give the company time to review?

Thanks,

Tennille Tracy
